Why This Matters

With entrepreneurship education gaining traction in high schools, there's a growing need for quality, research-backed resources. The modules on our new Educator Resource page(https://eiexchange.com/educator-resources-hub) are developed by esteemed academics and industry experts, ensuring educators have access to top-tier materials that inspire students and prepare them for future opportunities.

Key Features of Our Educator Modules

- Target Audience: Created for high school and community college educators who want to bring hands-on, experiential learning to their classrooms.
- Grounded in Academic Research: Designed by leading faculty and practitioners from across the globe.
- Free for Everyone: Made possible by the generous support of the Richard M. Schulze Family Foundation.
- Flexible for Any Curriculum: Modules can supplement current curricula, offering students practical applications of entrepreneurial concepts.

Explore Our Modules

Our Educator Resource Webpage (https://eiexchange.com/educator-resources-hub) includes a range of interactive teaching exercises, each with comprehensive lesson plans, worksheets, slide decks, and student handouts. Here's a look at what you'll find:

- Business Models and Strategy: Learn foundational business concepts with modules like Intro to Business Models and SNL Viable Business Models.
- Entrepreneurial Mindset and Innovation: Cultivate creativity and innovative thinking with the Invention vs. Innovation and LEGO Serious Play lessons.
- Interactive and Experiential Learning: Engage students with hands-on challenges like the Coin Toss Game and $5 Startup Challenge.
- Pitching and Presenting Ideas: Develop communication skills with the How to Pitch Your Business Idea module.
